

Pins and Needles

A lot of people are at the edge of the news, everyday.

We look at the Democrats and can not ever get comfortable for too long. It is important to vote regardless of how distressing and prolong the event.

The base citizen vote is just for estimate and statistics purpose.

It is not always guaranteed a firm of delegates.

We just have to get the Republicans out the capital and major decisions.

As a president or leader, you have to be an accountable philanthropist.

Anyone that gets there can't take for granted they got there on pins and needles. They can't just serve one class of people, all humans. I am firm to believe that "illegal" immigrants should still get the rights of humanity such as health care. It was immigrants that bought slaves into the U.S.

There are people that feel the only people to serve are those that are rich or have children. As humans, there will always have poor in the land.

We should not become content to being poor.

There is so much oppression of the economy, school shootings (recently in a vo-tech in LA and IL), job pay, job growth, Mychal Bell, the war and so much more.

I wonder if big leaders including pastors, would hide money from themselves and live off the income of $18k/yr, today and with a family.

It is one thing to see, but feeling goes deeper. Then imagine as a single person, to face the same of job security and equal opportunity as a minority. You're violated more because you don't have resources available as someone who has a child. When laws and services are made, there should be equal opportunity just to apply as a single person, male, elderly, or veteran. The funds should be in a statistic sense per capita of the those in need of the service.

There should be preventive outlets such as financial for beginners or anyone that desire esp. of an income below $30k. You can't pay a financial advisor on an income of less than $25/hr, even if you single with dependants.

There needs to outlets to understand sanitation, job investment-not to put all your hope into them, forever, live on a budget, regardless.

However, more than just statements, we are scared even though confident in the one for our count. We really hope that they can prioritize our needs the most.

After they get the seat, all eyes is awaiting esp. if they will drive a change. Even though the media hype you up the base as expected of how you think, conveniently.

People should educate themselves on process and procedures. As a leader of the Democrat party is nominated, they need to consider the win as pins and needles to serve humanity and not the oppressive principalities.
